

Catching UP with Deanna Ransom

BET's Bobby Jones Gospel recently featured the "Never Say Never Again" singer and national gospel recording artist Deanna Ransom singing "I Am Healed", Sunday Jan. 13th on Bobby Jones Gospel (view full episode here: <http://bet.us/12a4OFM>). Sharing the platform with gospel greats Richard Smallwood, J Moss, Anthony Brown & Group Therapy, Ransom held her own! Taking no time to slow down not for a moment she immediately followed her performance tour by appearing on Forward Faith with the CTVN network in Western PA Friday, Jan. 25th along with Pastors Gary and Drenda Keese. See (<http://faithlifenow.com/>). Ransom was the special musical guest for the birthday celebration of Pastor Rosina Coles! Who can dispute the unmeasurable talent and gifting of this artist who's heart is made of gold. Never Say Never Again CD is simply a great project. If you enjoy really good contemporary gospel music this album is for you. What I find most refreshing is that there is a very clear message of healing and deliverance in each song. Whether its up-tempo in beat or mellow jazzy in sound THE MESSAGE OF JESUS CHRIST IS THERE! Some complain that the R&B sounding gospel songs don't deliver what their soul desires when they need to be ministered to in a deeper way. I will agree with some critics that some of the projects out with the R&B sound do not get the job done. I assure you Never Say Never Again is definitely one of the acceptions. You will definitely want this project in your collection. Book Deanna for your next conference while you're at it. Her music is diverse touching on many social ills of today. Deanna founded Virtuous Women of Destiny, a women's ministry focused on godly female empowerment. The goal of the ministry is to expand the mind, perception and capabilities of God's women and to enable them to face life and endure challenges in a positive manner. The group fosters healthy relationships between women and offers assistance to women's shelters, churches and other organizations. In spite of what life has thrown her way, Deanna has discovered a valuable lesson. "One thing I have learned is that when we give our lives to God, we get a blueprint," says Deanna. "No matter what happens in life, it's so important for us to stick to the blueprint of God." For booking visit <http://DeannaRansom.com>
